To my Shore Builders family,
Please humor me and give this a read.

This November I'm going to be running the New York City Marathon. It's something I've wanted to do for a long time, and I feel very fortunate to be doing it for an awesome cause. That cause is JAR of Hope. JAR of Hope's purpose is to raise money which will be used to find a cure for Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy (DMD). This is a genetic disease that debilitates children. Most lose mobility and end up in wheelchairs by their early teen years. This is followed by paralysis, followed by deterioration of the muscles protecting the heart and lungs. Things get more dire from here. There is currently no cure.

I'd like to ask you all for your help. First, please take 10 minutes and watch the YouTube video about JAR of Hope and DMD below. I think you'll understand immediately why I'm thankful and proud to be a part of their team.

SECOND AND MOST IMPORTANT: Please click on the link below (which is my fundraising page) and give what you can. Anything and everything helps. These are good people, they don't deserve this, and their kids certainly don't deserve this. I want us all to be part of the cure. I'll be happy to put these miles in. I hope you can support my campaign.

Finally, if you don't have any plans on Sunday, November 4th (Giants & Eagles both have a bye), I'd love to see you in New York City!

Thank you for anything you can do to help!
